2019 SUMMER INTERNSHIP

Intern Testimonies:

"The summer internship with TZ Medical offered extremely valuable work experience but beyond that it gave me great opportunities, friends, and memories. And the latter are what makes TZ special. The sales experience that the internship offered was fun and challenging but additionally it gave me the opportunity to see if TZ and sales was the company and position I wanted moving forward. I took the internship because the company itself is awesome, from being a small family owned company to the unique and awesome products that you get to learn about and sell. The thing that makes TZ so special though and made the summer internship experience so amazing is the people at TZ. The company culture and attitude is something I realized from my first conversations with TZ employees and made itself even more abundant once I was in the office. I have never been part of a company, team, or group where no matter who you turn to for help they are happy to lend a hand. The people at TZ aren't people that I interacted with at work because I had to, they were people I wanted to hang out with outside work."

- Sean Cadden 2018 Intern, Current Employee

"My experience as an intern at TZ Medical has been one that I will not soon forget, and has made me very excited to start my career with TZ. As a business student with zero medical background, this internship gave me more than enough knowledge and experience to confidently enter the medical device sales industry primed for success. From the training, to hands on experience, to ride alongs with reps, there is nothing that you won't do as a TZ intern. The management team as well as outside reps you will be working with are always trying to help improve your knowledge of our products, best practices, and the healthcare industry as a whole. This is a company where you really feel valued from day one. The culture established at TZ is a very unique one where hard work does not go unnoticed, and no one is unapproachable. Whether it's the VP Trent, the Director of Sales Casey, or any one of the reps in the field, everyone is happy to help and someone will answer when you call. Aside from the professional experience that the TZ Sales Internship provided, it also introduced me to some lifelong friends. Moving from Arizona to Oregon, somewhere I had never been before, was a much easier transition to make with the support of the other interns. The relationships built over the 4 months spent here are invaluable and make work very enjoyable. In our time here, the other interns and I were able to spend a weekend at the Oregon Coast, go white water rafting in Bend, travel to Los Angeles, explore Portland and grow very close as a friend group."

- Michael Khawam 2018 Intern, Current Employee

"TZ Medical was the perfect place to start my post college career. There was a real chance of employment after the internship and a chance to move up in the company. I found that because TZ is a smaller company, I was really valued by the other employees and upper management. The home office is a fun and outgoing environment, where someone is always willing to help you out. You get hands on training as well as experience selling products, not just doing paperwork. If you are looking to kickoff your career in medical device sales, TZ medical is for you."

- Dan Palermo 2015 Intern, Current Employee

"Throughout my years in school I worked different jobs and had a few different internships, none of which however, can compare to my experience at TZ Medical. The internship was more than being an extra set of hands to get busy work done. TZ put in the effort to train and teach me how to be successful. I was able to dive into the sales force as an employee would rather than be "an intern". I was hired out of the internship and am constantly thankful for the opportunity to be part of such a great company."

- Kelsey Sirgy 2015 Intern, Current Employee
